FRIDAY, JUNE 1, 1906.

The next four months along the sports and recreation line promises to be an unusually active one. There is no end to the sailing, automobilizing, golf, horse racing and base ball.

The new departure of the Civil Service Commission in classifying all lists is good one. The simple fact that a man has shown ability to push a wheelchair ought not to justify his being promoted to run a locomotive or steam boat.

Insurance companies and underwriters are adjusting their new schedule of rates to restore the surplus wiped out by the San Francisco disaster, but even at the advanced rates no man, unless he is extremely poor, can afford to carry his own insurance.

As showing the magnitude of our railroad service and investment we call attention to a recent contract filed to the Baltimore and Ohio road, 250 locomotives, 10,000 freight and passenger cars, the contract price which was made a year ago being $16,000,000.

Pond Home.

The fourth anniversary of the opening of the King's Daughters Home for the Aged at Pondville will be held on Saturday, June 2nd. Luncheon will be served on the grounds at 2 o'clock. Train leaves South Station at 12:27 p.m. returning at 3:38. All persons interested are cordially invited to attend whether members of the King's Daughters or not.

W. C. Noler.

Reynolds Corps 102 served dinner to the Past at Old Fellows' open house on Memorial Day. Over two hundred veterans and guests were seated at the tables. Past-president Mrs. Sara Calu of Providence was among the guests of the Corps.

The proceeds of the "poverty party" added a substantial sum to the Corps funds.

On Sunday, June 3, the graves of deceased members of the Corps in all parts of the town will be decorated at four o'clock. Members will meet at the different cemeteries at that time.

The next meeting of the Corps will be held on the afternoon of June 12.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Cured Me Completely.

A slighted in the winter with fever, headache, backache, etc., and various systems seem to permeate the marrow of the body during this the beginning of Grip's deadly disease, the nervous system and the derangement of the head in the digestive organs is in the following way:

After the grippe I contracted a laryngitis and was confined to my bed for five weeks. My nerves were greatly deranged and liver in an almost deranged condition. Treatment did not get me well. My condition continued to grow worse and as I had been in bed all the time I made myself a bed in a chair. I purchased a chair of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve and Nervine and Liver Tonic. This was the first time I had ever had a nerve tonic. I could not sleep and was scarcely able to get around. My weight at this time was 140 pounds. At the end of the second week I was a changed man, my appetite was beyond control, my strength was restored and my weight was one hundred and forty-two pounds. I never felt better in my life. I am in full recovery now. I thank Dr. Miles' Restorative in recommending Dr. Miles' Remedies to the afflicted. Any doctor who prescribes for grippe should be a fool.

FRIDAY, JUNE 8, 1906.

The Legislature of Massachusetts now goes through the form of a daily session, but in the main it is with only a few minutes' interval and a large number of absences. It is now time to go home.

According to the inspections and investigations which are being made in and about some of the big packing houses of the country it looks as though we had been eating something we didn't know much about. If we had we would have satisfied our hunger with something besides beef, pork and lamb.

The act of the Legislature which was passed and became a law immediately on its passage, will somewhat interfere with a reduced tax rate throughout the state. The law is in favor of veteran soldiers, and exempts an additional amount of property from taxation, and the assessors in this town think the maximum and minimum figures will be $75,000 and $100,000.

When the act just passed authorizing a $11,000,000 bond issue was introduced into a completed bill, the bill intended for us for, will be in the form of a bill. The statement recently made by one of the experts that the United States would never build another battleship, was only partially true; we will go right on building them, but probably not in government yards because it has been demonstrated that they can be built cheaper, quicker and better in private yards.

Time off to Guy Gilford—while he may have succeeded in giving two much latitude to Tucker's council, his reasons for the same are worthy of consideration, but the final report is a noble and manly stand for the dignity and character of laws, which he has taken his oath to enforce, and for the protection and safeguards of the home and virtuous womanhood, and the court should draw over the black cloud.

It is hoped however that one good lesson may be learned by parents who may be brought up as a street corner boaster and come to no good.

MRS. EMMA HALL WATSON.

Daughter of Well-Known Chicopee Family Dies in Weymouth.

Mrs. Emma Hall Watson, widow of Isaac Watson of Lynn, died yesterday morning at 1 o'clock, in her summer home in Weymouth, after an illness of several weeks. She was a member of the well-known Abbey family and had many relatives here and in Chicopee. She was born 39 years ago, the daughter of Albert D. Abbey of Chicopee. Mrs. Watson had not lived in this city for over 20 years, moving away before her marriage with Mr. Watson, a wealthy resident of Lynn. Mrs. Watson leaves two daughters, Mrs. Stewart M. Robson of this city and Mrs. Herbert Heath of Hestfield, Me.; two sons, Almon of Lynn and Samuel E. of Brooklyn, N. Y.; three brothers, Charles A. Abbey of Chicopee and Silas B. and Arthur L. of this city, and one sister, Mrs. Sybil Devine of this city.

The body will be brought to this city tonight on the 8:27 o'clock train, in charge of Undertaker C. J. Rombstrand, and the funeral will be held in the home of S. M. Robson, 86 Pearl Street, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Newton M. Hall, pastor of North Congregational church, officiating. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery, Chicopee—Springfield field Union.

Entomological Society. It is a singular nozzle to the entomologists and others interested in the study of insects how the frail little creatures of the mosquito and the bantid order can brave the cold of an arctic winter and yet retain their life. A London naturalist, who has the largest collection of the卑微的 bantid, hatched and exposed it to an arctic blast 68 degrees below zero. Upon taking it out of the range of this arctic blizzard and gradually thawing the creature out the naturalist was able to find that the insect was able to live in less than half an hour afterwards. According to the testimony of all the arctic explorers, butterflies and mosquitoes, as well as a great variety of other insects, have been found fitting snugly into the tiny crevices of the arctic icebergs by name. It is often deplored by those who have made tours of exploration to the far north that the mosquitoes of those regions are the largest and healthiest varieties of that species of pests that have ever been discovered by man.

FRIDAY, JUNE 15, 1906.

The schools of Weymouth will observe Bunker Hill day by closing next Monday, and on Friday the final exercises will have been held and 2200, and therefore scholars and teachers will begin the long vacation. Many of these scholars will pass from school life to other fields of work, while others will go up a grade in their school work and experience.

Flower Mission.

The coming of June brings us to another season when the W. C. T. U. sends flowers, fruits and vegetables to those less fortunate than we. A time when we can show kindness and considerate to those who are in need and lonely.

This year the collection of the flowers and arranging them will be conducted a little differently than before. Several ladies will have the work in charge, instead of our superintendent, but will send around town for the flowers as before. Beginning Friday, June 15th and 22nd, the flowers may be left at Mrs. L. Weston Atwood's home, Tower Avenue, South Weymouth.

We anticipate a hearty response by all who have flowers, as in the past, and who does not want a share in this good work? ONE OF THE W.'S

Notes from the Meetings of the Federation of Women's Clubs at St. Paul, Minn.

It was a wise committee which planned for the fifth annual meeting of Women's Clubs. It would be hard to tell which evening was the choicer, one which was especially pleasing, was the session devoted to music when a young ladies' orchestra, a federated club, opened the session, followed by a ladies' chorus, trained with great precision, which achieved excellent results, the climax in a measure responsive for the choir, ringing out for their singing register.

The evening devoted to the profession of women was certainly magnificent. The profession of law was represented by Mrs. Carpenter of New York, a lawyer of high rank in New York city. As a witty, fact-filled individual, I doubt if her equal could be found.

Miss Ward of Boston represented journalism. She presented a carefully prepared paper upon her subject from the time it was first participated in by women to this date when some of our best and brightest literature is produced by the brain and pen of women.

Misselie had a clear-headed representation from Iowa who told how much suffering might be alleviated if more women would study and practice the profession and also how lucrative it proved.

The stage sent a powerful representative in Miss Blingham of New York who was beautifully clad in clinging robes of white diaphanous material and who in clear, ringing tones and graceful personality told of the hard, continued study, persevering endurance at rehearsals, continual trials with little repose which other hardships to be endured before success could be attained. The morals and womanly characteristics are just as high in this branch of woman's way to a livelihood as in my own occupations or professions.

And last came the minister of the Gospel, a beautiful, magnetic woman from Kalamazoo, Michigan. A person endowed with more charming, modest and heavenly impulses would be hard to find. Hard would be the heart that could resist her endearing personality; she said "that it was one of the professions particularly adapted to the sweet and patient woman."

The lectures and conferences on pure food, art, civile improvement and forestry were products of the best scholars in the country.

The state reported the "pure food bill" as passed by its Legislature. It was reported that Massachusetts stood at the head in all questions of reform, being the pioneer in everything relating to improvement, which state we were proud to say was ours by birthright.

Century Club's Exit.

Clubs tammerous for commercial, social, literary and other purposes have sprung up, here and there in Weymouth, as well as every other town in the land, in fact throughout the world, and among them is now numbered the literary club known as the "Century Club" of North Weymouth, and while it has had a pleasant and successful career, among its many pleasant gatherings will be numbered the final one which was held at the Pilgrim church last Friday night.

At seven o'clock fifty-three members and guests sat down to a banquet served by Bates & Hampshire, caterers, consisting of cold meats, salads, less, sandwiches and cake, served after their well-known style.

After the banquet, the assembly adjourned to the vestry, where a short dinner exercise took place with Mr. W. A. Drake presiding. His introductory remarks were his remarks introducing the speakers, were interesting and amusing. The general doctor is always at home in that part.

H. A. Newton as the first secretary of the club was first called on to give the club's history. He said in part that the club was formed in the year 1898, its first officers being Gillman C. Fisher, president; David H. Weston, vice-president; H. A. Newton, secretary, and Thomas R. Cleverly, treasurer.

The three remaining original members of the club are Mr. W. A. Drake, Joseph Poulin and H. A. Newton. Many of the original members have passed to the life beyond and not a few are removed by the hands of labor. It seemed best to the remaining members to close up the affairs with this, the sixtieth year's work, consequently a committee was appointed to plan a closing meeting and to spend the funds left in the treasury for the purchase of a suitable gift for the Athens Academy. The committee wisely selected a special trip to Boston Tuesday afternoon to select the banqueting and other necessary materials.

Marching practice began Wednesday morning and continued until graduation period every morning until graduation which is Thursday, June 21.

Quite a number of former Weymouth High students have been invited to be graduated from the class of 1898 this year. They are: Misses Helen Richards, Margaret Smith, Lotta Wardwell, Harold Wilder, John Wardell and Charles Irwin. They made a special trip to Boston Tuesday afternoon to select the banqueting and other necessary materials.

The junior decorating committee consists of Helen Richards, Margaret Smith, Lotta Wardwell, Harold Wilder, John Wardell and Charles Irwin. They made a special trip to Boston Tuesday afternoon to select the banqueting and other necessary materials.

The plan outlined is materially different from Weymouth's first observance of Old Home Week. While that was a success with a solid week of celebration, it was decided by the committee that a whole week would be a pretty heavy strain, and Saturday, the fourth of August, was selected as "Patriot Day" and if the plans discussed are successfully carried out, it will be a day long to be remembered.

The plan is an all-day celebration at the Agricultural grounds, South Weymouth. The grounds have been secured and efforts will be made to have the whole town there. One feature which is planned is a parade which in magnitude will exceed anything ever seen in the state outside of the large cities. It is proposed to have in this parade every organization and every organization, fraternal and otherwise, represented. There will be speaking from prominent men, band, and athletic exercises on the track.

While the general work is in the hands of the historical society, it will be in the broadest sense a town affair and many people in different organizations may expect to be soon drafted into active committee work.

A basket picnic with from 10,000 to 15,000 people present, will be a grand Old Home Week event.

As usual, some break had to come in the long half schedule and this time it was the cancellation of two games in succession. The games to have been played yesterday, Friday at S. Weymouth vs. North Easton, and last Monday, also at S. Weymouth with the Hingham boys as opponents. The boys were disappointed as two victories were looked for. Weymouth plays the last scheduled game of the season today at the Thayer Academy vs. Somers, Braintree, against the Braintree High team.

The class side written by Shirley C. Boane has been chosen by the management as the best one offered. There was a great deal of competition by members of the senior class. The side will be sung at graduation to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne."

With the graduating of the present senior class passes out of the school the largest class by two in the history of Weymouth High. It numbers 46-33 girls and 14 boys.

Electric Road Hearing.

The town offices were filled with people from all parts of the town Tuesday night to take part in, or listen to, the hearing on petition of the old Colony Street Hallway Co. to act as common carriers of baggage and freight in the town of Weymouth under existing statutes of the Commonwealth.

The entire board of selection were in attendance and Chairman Willis called the meeting to order at 8 o'clock. Mr. Conway, representative of the petitioners, made a lengthy statement of the wants of his company which in substance was to make Weymouth a part of a general system of freight and baggage-carriers in central western Massachusetts. It was not in the plan to deliver freight, baggage or express matter from house to house along the line, but to establish centers or stations for that purpose and the right, if granted and accepted, would be subject to restriction by the selection and approved by the railroad commissioners.

It was at once evident that Mr. Conway was up against a fire of criticism of his road and its condition, and nearly two hours were spent in the subject matter, which had no relation to the subject of the petition and yet full of suggestion in regard to management of the road and accommodations to the people.

Walter H. Bates, speaking as representative of the South Weymouth Village Improvement Society, thought that there was a lack of system or equity in the fare from Braintree to Weymouth, as it was cheaper at times to go from North Weymouth to Weymouth via East Weymouth than it was to go direct.

W. J. Coleman thought that there was a lack of system or equity in the fare from Faneuil Hall to Weymouth, as it was cheaper at times to go from North Weymouth to Weymouth via East Weymouth than it was to go direct.

A. W. Baker of Baker's Express spoke against any right to carry freight, given the road as it would interfere with well-established and satisfactory services now in vogue.

C. Case made one of the best points of the evening in arguing for some sanitary conditions in connection with the multitude of so-called wash houses. There should be less of them and at principal centers of military conditions to meet the wants of women and children.

H. M. Jackson spoke in favor of the franchise as an advance movement in the interest of the public, and like all other advance movements it would be eventually a success of the fittest."

B. F. Thomas spoke in favor of the petition as it would be a decided advantage in the receipt and delivery of mail and newspapers.

N. W. Gardner thought that if granted, the safeguards against interfering with passenger traffic should be made strong, and the request was now up to the selectmen and railroad commissioners.

Tufts Library.

The Yellowstone National Park, part 2, the lower and upper geyser basins, is the subject of the exhibition now being held at the library. The enlarged photographs beautifully illustrate these wonderful natural fountains. The most famous are those of the Excelsior Geyser, Old Faithful, Grotto Geyser, Firehole Geyser, Castle Geyser, Copper Cascade and Lone Star Geyser.

This exhibition will close Friday, June 22, and on Saturday, June 23, the drawing exhibition of the pupils of the High school will begin.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Visitors this week at the High were Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hodges of St. Cloud, Minn.; Miss M. O. Nolen and Miss Helen M. Pratt of St. Paul.

Albert Smith, formerly of class 1901, has resigned his position at Brandt Hall, Brookline.

Earle Bates '05 is Thayer Academy's choice for her base ball captain for next year. Bates plays a big game both in the field and at the bat, and deserves the position.

Cell Spilbury '08 has taken a position with G. L. Whittemore's bakery for the summer vacation.

Joseph Smith and Thomas Connell of the High graduate from Harvard this year.

The appearance of the bell has greatly improved by the new steeple which was put up May 1st by the Ford Furniture Co.

The organ doctor is always at home in that part.

H. A. Newton as the first secretary of the club was first called on to give the club's history. He said in part that the club was formed in the year 1898, its first officers being Gillman C. Fisher, president; David H. Weston, vice-president; H. A. Newton, secretary, and Thomas R. Cleverly, treasurer.

The three remaining original members of the club are Mr. W. A. Drake, Joseph Poulin and H. A. Newton. Many of the original members have passed to the life beyond and not a few are removed by the hands of labor.

It seemed best to the remaining members to close up the affairs with this, the sixtieth year's work.

Consequently a committee was appointed to plan a closing meeting and to spend the funds left in the treasury for the purchase of a suitable gift for the Athens Academy.

The plan outlined is materially different from Weymouth's first observance of Old Home Week.

While that was a success with a solid week of celebration, it was decided by the committee that a whole week would be a pretty heavy strain, and Saturday, the fourth of August, was selected as "Patriot Day" and if the plans discussed are successfully carried out, it will be a day long to be remembered.

FRIDAY, JUNE 22, 1906.

Add a star to your flag on the Fourth of July for the new state Oklahoma. The new state comes into the Union rich in mineral wealth and agricultural promises.

Elsewhere in this issue may be found a warrant for a special Town Meeting to be held in Old Fellows open house, East Weymouth, next Friday night. The warrant is not long and as the few articles relate to matters which have been handled before and are pretty generally understood, the meeting ought to be a short one.

In our celebration of and rejoicing over Weymouth Day let us not forget that the 17th of June was the fifth anniversary of the birth of the Republican party, the 17th of June, 1856. The birth of the party of the Free Soil and "Freedom's Law" became the battle cry for the first National Campaign of the party, and this week the fifth anniversary of that event is being celebrated in a fitting manner in Philadelphia. As measured by some historic events, fifty years is not a long time, but in fifty years America has written more pages of history than any nation on earth. We have gone through a war unknown in history for loss of life and expenditure of money. Peace and Unity were established, development in arts, sciences, manufactures, and new territory are almost beyond human comprehension and in fifty years we have grown from almost an unknown nation to be a leading power and factor among the nations of the earth.

Yankee Singin' Maids.

The Fogg opera house was well filled Friday evening, June 8, by an audience that heartily enjoyed "Ye Great Singin' Meetin'" given by the old South choir and their friends.

An orchestra of over twenty performers (the ages of ten of whom averaged over seventy years) entertained the audience with several ancient pieces, and then the long line of fifty singers led from the hall to the inspiring strains of "Somerville." There were many ancient wedding dresses and suits as well as quaint costumes, and when grouped upon the stage they made a striking and beautiful picture.

The program was well received and the interest of the audience was sustained to the very end, from eight o'clock till nearly half-past ten. It seemed to be a unanimous verdict that it was the best Old Folks' concert they had ever heard. Both chorus and orchestra entered into the spirit of the occasion and vied with each other in reviving the old songs they made a striking and beautiful picture.

Dr. E. N. Bates showed himself a leader of mezzo ability and was ready for every emergency.

Mr. William W. Raymond, although 83 years of age, played a solo upon the flute so well that he was called up twice by encore.

Mr. Moon, Miss Munro and Miss Deane rendered solos most acceptably. Each responded to an encore. There was great regret that Mr. C. Loring Stetson was kept from giving a concert solo by an accident. With this exception, the program was given as printed.

Several of the instruments used by the orchestra were of interesting history. The biggest bassoon was made especially for the first "Police Day" of 1887 directed by P. S. Gilmore, and was used there. It is said to be the largest in this country, and perhaps the largest in the world. The small bassoon, or cello, played by Mr. William H. Reed, was made in Worcester in 1785, and is one of the finest ones made in this country. It was the first one used in the old South church and was played for many years by Jerome White.

It is hoped that the Old South choir may be induced to arrange for another concert next season.

Whales.
Whales, though they are mammals, are often to be found in winter. The true whales are of two kinds of families—the sperm whale, which has teeth in the lower jaw, and the whalebone whale, which has none. The first named there are two species, the cachalot and the sperm, which when full grown measure in 60 to 70 feet. The capture of this animal is attended with greater danger than that of the whalebone or Greenland whale on account of its formidable teeth.

ADRIAN DENBROECKER DEAD.

A Worthy and Respected Citizen and Soldier Passes to a Higher Life.

Seventy-seven years ago, in far away Holland, Adrian Denbroecker began a life spent or ideal as mortal man can make.

Mr. Denbroecker's boyhood and young manhood were spent near the playgrounds of his birth. There he received his education, learned the tailoring trade, and there on March 20, 1853, Elizabeth, his wife, became his lawful and wedded wife, and the golden anniversary of that marriage was celebrated at their home in East Weymouth three years ago with eight sons and daughters and thirteen grandchildren present.

But two years of the wedded life of Mr. and Mrs. Denbroecker were spent in the old country, and in 1855 they sought a home in the new world, landing in Boston, and shortly became residents of Weymouth where for six years Mr. Denbroecker worked at his trade with Mr. Todd, a leading tailor in South Weymouth. Seeking a place to start a business of his own, the subject of this sketch located in Weymouth, and was only fairly established when the Civil War began and he became a soldier in the 42d Regiment and served in it until honorably discharged at the close of the term of enlistment when he again resumed business in North Weymouth where he continued until 1887 when he moved to East Weymouth as a field agent for enlarged business and work.

Mr. Denbroecker's honor, integrity and fair dealing won him a good patronage, but declining health compelled his retiring from active work two years ago and his son, Charles B., who had learned the trade with his father, succeeded him.

The disability which compelled Mr. Denbroecker's withdrawal from business culminated in a shock last Friday, and a second one a little later, and the last hours of a long and honorable life were unconscious ones and the end came on Sunday.

Tobin—Conlon.

Mrs. Grace Conlon, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Conlon of East Weymouth, and Charles A. Tobin, a popular young man of East Weymouth and a clerk in the Boston post office, were married Monday evening at the parochial residence by Rev. Fr. Allison.

Edward Todd, a brother of the bride, and a sister of the bride was bridegroom.

The bride wore a costume of white silk and the bridegroom a dress of pink satin.

A reception followed the wedding ceremony at the home of the bride on Iron Hill street. On their return from a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Tobin will reside in South Weymouth.

Jones—Fraser.

Mrs. Catherine Fraser, daughter of Thomas Fraser of Iron Hill street, East Weymouth, was married Tuesday to John Lawrence Jones, son of Wm. Jones of North Abington in the church of the Immaculate Conception. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Edward J. Fraser, pastor of St. Thomas' Church, Jamaica Plain and a brother of the bride.

Wade—Tolman.

Miss Frances Wade, a widow, and Mr. Edward Tolman, a brother of the bride, were married Monday evening at the parochial residence by Rev. Fr. Allison.

Edward Tolman is a field agent for the Boston & Maine R. R.

The bride was a gown of gray chiffon veiling over satins silk with Irish lace trimmings, and carried a prayer book, a gift from her brother. The maid of honor was attired in green silk poplin with lace trimmings and a lace headband.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride, the happy couple being assisted by the maid of honor and the best man. After a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Jones will reside on Spruce street, North Abington, where they will be at home after August 1st.

Bradford—Brayton.

There was a pretty wedding at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Bradford, Randolph street, Monday afternoon, when their daughter Sarah B. Bradford and Fred H. Bradford of Iron Hill street, Abington, were united in marriage. The rooms were decorated with palms, ferns and sweet flowers. The ceremony was performed at 2:30 by Rev. Harry Kinnish of the Union church.

The couple were attended by Rev. Dr. Kohler and Mildred Sullivan of Weymouth.

Mr. Bradford consigned his bride to the care of Rev. Dr. Tolman.

Reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride, the happy couple being assisted by the maid of honor and the best man. After a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Jones will reside on Spruce street, North Abington, where they will be at home after August 1st.

Classmate—Foster.

A special civil service examination for clerk and carrier in the South Weymouth, Mass., post office will be held in Room 141 Postville Building, Boston, Mass., on June 29th, 1906, at 9 o'clock a.m. in order that an appointment may be made in the office, and future appointments as occasion may require.

Applicants must be between the ages of 16 and 45 years and citizens of the United States. Male applicants must measure not less than 5 ft. 4 in. in their stocking feet, and weigh not less than 125 lbs. in ordinary clothing. Medical certificates will not be required of applicants, but those who may receive appointments will be called upon to furnish the same before entering upon duty.

The management was especially fortunate in securing Professor Griggs as the speaker of the day. He has made a specialty of schools and school work and is a most enthusiastic and eloquent speaker along school lines.

The class one collects credit upon its author and will be treasured as the product of the Weymouth High school.

CLASS ONE.

Words by Shirley C. Reame. Tune, "Auld Lang Syne."

For an invited world we stand,

The future called from sight,

Youth's fancy waits with hasty bright.

Chorus.

With courage born well then press on,

Now far at Italy's call,

May God speed every effort, through

Whatever may befall.

Folk many a cherished token has

Been linked in fiery's chain;

The ties of friendship forged in youth,

Friendship shall remain.

Our motto bind in every heart:

There may be truth abiding,

And may the truth abide,

Our course like life ever guide.

KVENING.

After a couple of hours rest which was spent by the guests in admiring the elegant school building, and by scholars in farrands, luncheon and social chats, the exercises of the evening began with another crowded house in attendance.

Mac Gay's orchestra was a feature of the hour with East Weymouth's old time favorite "W.H.P." as leader.

The first feature was by the orchestra and then came a fine presentation of the charming little drama "Want—a Chapman." This little drama does not call for many characters, but it calls for good ones, and everybody was pleased with Daniel Relly's impersonation of Allan Morrison; Sallie Vining's Lydia Greenough; Inez Prentiss' Moula; Hettie Cunningham's Third Universal; and Franki Williams' "Police Man."

The dance which followed suffered somewhat but nevertheless was a most brilliant affair, with Lee J. Ford, door director, T. F. Henney, assistant and Daniel Relly and Benjamin Hunt aids.

Miss Lillian Gilford and Mr. George Gilford of Quincy Point were brilliant.

There was a pleasing variety in the order of dances and at a late hour the last round had been taken and the Weymouth High for the year was officially at an end with great raves for a background and with handbells suspended from the centre of the arch.

Mr. Walter C. Brayton, brother of the bride, played the wedding march.

"Yes, lady."

"What did you do with it?"

"I gave it to my brother; he's strong—or I am."

CARD OF THANKS.

The amiable removal of a loving son and brother in the prime of his early manhood was a severe shock and great sorrow, but in the midst of sorrow we were comforted by words of consolation, deeds of kindness and beautiful floral tributes to the departed, and we take this opportunity to thank those who have been so kind. Burns—Prantl.

A pretty little wedding of interest to Weymouth people took place in Trovato, R. I., last Thursday evening. It was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Newcomb, the bride, Miss Alice Prantl, being a sister of Mrs. Frank Prantl and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Prantl of North Weymouth. The bridegroom was Mr. Frederick Nelson Bourne of Providence.

The house was tastefully decorated with palms and hyacinths. Aleris' orchestra furnished music throughout the evening.

The bride wore white satin trimmed with princess lace; she carried a shower basket of bride roses.

The bridegroom was dressed in a tuxedo.

Both the bride and bridegroom were spent in the new world, having in Boston, and shortly became residents of Weymouth where for six years Mr. Denbroecker worked at his trade with Mr. Todd, a leading tailor in South Weymouth. Seeking a place to start a business of his own, the subject of this sketch located in Weymouth, and was only fairly established when the Civil War began and he became a soldier in the 42d Regiment and served in it until honorably discharged at the close of the term of enlistment when he again resumed business in North Weymouth where he continued until 1887 when he moved to East Weymouth as a field agent for enlarged business and work.

Mr. Denbroecker's honor, integrity and fair dealing won him a good patronage, but declining health compelled his retiring from active work two years ago and his son, Charles B., who had learned the trade with his father, succeeded him.

The disability which compelled Mr. Denbroecker's withdrawal from business culminated in a shock last Friday, and a second one a little later, and the last hours of a long and honorable life were unconscious ones and the end came on Sunday.

FRIDAY, JUNE 29, 1906.

Oh, say can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming?
Or whose broad stripes and bright stars, thru the perilous fight
On the ramparts we watched—o'er the gallant streets and the hills!—and the bombs bursting in air,
Give proof that the night that our flag was still there,
Oh, say does that star-spangled banner still wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

Reef Parker's Armory gets a clean bill from the committee on investigation. His establishment is all right and much cleaner than most kitchens in Chicago. Let us keep on eating.

Brockton got a little setback at the Labor Union Convention at Milwaukee, but it has the bill for the Brockton Canal and that is glory enough for one year.

The Selectmen have awarded the contract for painting the house, stable and outbuildings at the Town Farm on Essex street to W. C. Cook of South Weymouth. The contract price is $175 for two coats and the tools to furnish the material.

Last week we learned that there was a reduction of several hundred dollars in our county tax, and now comes the good news that the state tax will be over half a million less than in 1905 and we come in for a share of that on our State tax. We will need the reduction.

Before another issue of this paper we will have passed through the celebration of the "glorious Fourth" and while we bear less than usual about the day, there will be quite a celebration at South Weymouth through the instrumentation of H. D. Head and no doubt the usual Fourth of July noise by Young America and we hope to record a small list of casualties next week.

In our last week's issue we said that the special town meeting which will be held tonight in Old Fellow's Opera house, East Weymouth, ought to be a short one. We may have been right in the assumption that it ought to be short, but it does not follow that it does not promise to be one of the most important meetings ever held in town as far as its relation to the school question and school finance.

The town has voted to build a schoolhouse which is magnificently executed, anything we have ever attempted and there is possibly involved in it many changes of system and methods, and if a revolution is to take place, too much care can not be taken as to the location of the new building, not only in regard to its present but future growth of the place. Every voter of East Weymouth in particular, and the town in general, would take an interest in this matter and study the situation carefully, bearing in mind that if we build we are not building for today but for years to come.

SWIMMING.
Every boy and girl should be taught to swim, and be trained to it. Most boys learn of themselves, while the reverse is true to most girls. This latter fact is a grave mistake. The mistake is more serious than formerly, because so large a portion of our population spends weeks or months every year at our watering places, and because travel on river, lake and ocean, and sailing in boats and yachts for pleasure, have increased to such an extent. For these reasons as well as others, a knowledge of the art has become a necessity.

The mere consciousness of ability to swim and the feeling of familiarity with deep water that it creates would either prevent or diminish the panics that are so disastrous in cases of accidents on the sea. Besides this the inability to swim of persons who are in the water when a disaster has occurred greatly imperils the lives of those who are swimming and are abundantly able to care for themselves; for the swimmers are often overwhelmed by the wild clinging to them.

of the buckless persons who are drowning near by. The time to learn to swim is in childhood and youth and every parent should see to it that all his children become experts in the art. It is an easy art to learn. There are people who live in boats whose babies even swim like kittens.

IN MEMORY OF THE DEAD.

Memorial Exercises of East Weymouth.
Old Fellows of Marked Interest.
In response to the general request from headquarters and in accordance with the honored custom, Crescent Lodge No. 10, F. & No. 82, Weymouth Encampment No. 18, and Staffel Rebekah Lodge No. 18, of East Weymouth, joined in memorial services at the Methodist church last Sunday night.

The article says: "This same Friday evening, it happens to be the Sabbath day, will be observed on a procession of marchers in this little band, making ready for the solemn ceremonies of the one day of all the week to them." The article further says that "they could be seen slowly filing down over the rough road toward Wessagusett, through eight miles of forest, fording Black River, and finally up King Oak hill, at the foot of which, on a knoll in Horsing Island, stood the ridge hall, half fortress, half meeting house, wherein they were to spend their day. Known as Hunt's Hill and the old Spots and Phillips Creek neighborhood came to the island in boats and moored their skiffs in front of the grove of sturdy pines on the west shore."

The necrology of Crescent Lodge and Weymouth encampment were by P. G. George M. Hoyt who, in addition to other features, paid a tribute of respect to the memory of Bro. Massiehouse, Colver and P. G. Nathan Goodspeed who had passed beyond these last Memorial exercises. W. H. T. Curtis, solo, gave an impressive rendering of "My Faith Looks Up to Thee" and "Trusting the Bar." Scripture lesson and prayer were by Rev. E. L. Curtis. Mr. Curtis' solo, "The Sweetly Solitary Thought," was a good feature of the hour.
